

Indigenous Leadership

Saskatchewan Polytechnic recognizes the need to provide culturally relevant training that builds leadership capacity and breaks down barriers by using materials and methods that align to Indigenous values. The Indigenous Leadership Skills Applied Certificate shares how Indigenous peoples across Canada have demonstrated their diverse approaches to using resiliency in leadership.

Nīkānistamākēwin: “to be in leadership”

$1,800 (Public)
$1,450 (nGen Price)

Indigenous Leadership Skills Applied Certificate: 60 hours

Indigenous Leadership and Resilience:

30 hours

Indigenous peoples across Canada have demonstrated their diverse approaches using resiliency in leadership. In this course, you will gain a national perspective of leadership styles incorporated in indigenous communities. You will be able to identify the benefits of using resiliency-based leadership and how to build resilient teams in the workplace.

Indigenous Business and Entrepreneurship:

30 hours

Indigenous business development and entrepreneurship has provided many innovative examples of how to build grass roots initiatives into successful businesses. You will learn how to think critically about implementing new ideas and be able to take creative concepts into action.

To receive the Indigenous Leadership Skills Applied Certificate, you must complete the 6 Leadership Skills courses Leadership Skills Certificate of Achievement.

Leadership Foundations Statement of Achievement:

90 hours

Leadership Principles	(LEAD-115CE)
Business Management	(MGMT-116CE)
Supervisory Skills	(SUPR-115CE)

$2,511 (Public)
$1,950 (nGen Price)

Leadership Skills Certificate of Achievement:

90 hours

Coaching and Teambuilding for Leaders	(LEAD-116CE)
Management Principles	(MGMT-115CE)
Managerial Skills	(MGMT-189CE)

$2,511 (Public)
$1,950 (nGen Price)

For more information, contact:

Dalton Mervold
Program Head
306-659-4077
dalton.mervold@saskpolytech.ca

